Giorgio Maffei, Annie Pissard, Barbara Nesticò, Marzia Corraini, Valerio Dehò : Children's Corner: Artists' Books for Children before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Children's Corner: Artists' Books for Children:

El Lissitzky for kids? Ellsworth Kelly? Surprisingly, both artists have designed and created artists' books for small children--or children at heart. This anthology of children's artists' books from the ÓPLA Archive (Oasis for Art Books) in Merano, Italy, is designed like a children's book itself--small in scale, paperback, with strong tear-proof paper. Inside, one finds detailed reproductions of rarely seen books by Keith Haring, John Armleder, Andy Warhol and Bruno Munari, among many others. One particular standout is an exquisite little book by Japanese artist Katsumi Komagata, a colorful, abstract pop-out book with an origami-like design. A special section features color reproductions of artworks and installations by artists such as Joan Miró, Michelangelo Pistoletto and Alighero Boetti.
