This is the first comprehensive book on Heubach dolls with authentic documentation that has been made available by many experts and experienced collectors. The Heubachs were the champions in the art of modeling and in the creation of new doll types. With the perfection of intaglio eyes, they gave their dolls a typical trademark. This book also pictures and documents the well-adored small dolls, like the half-dolls and porcelain figurines (the so-called figurines which decorated nearly every living room of the working population.) There are many full-color close-ups of these dolls, and details on each doll including year, doll marks, hair type, eyes, open/closed mouth, size, construction, etc. This is a hard cover book with dust jacket. Measurements: 9" x 11 3/4" . Total of 142 pages. Published 1992-Hobby House Press.
